Any ideal job is destination and self-realization of man. This work implements his ability, satisfies the requirements, fulfills a wish and meets the rhythm of life.

I think my ideal job is in the legal field but I like not only that, I prefer sports as well. Sports and some kind of legal profession does not mix, but I like both and with the age of majority I decided who I want to become, suddenly I change my mind and I want to play in the theater. But since I went to this faculty.

I started thinking about the legal profession when I was little and it started with my mom saying "you talk too much". After that I started asking a lot of questions about this profession. And I was interested. That's now I knew what I wanted to be.
