

image not found or type unknown

Each person had days when he was happy, and when he was sad. Also, there was a day that was impossible to forget. And I have it as well – the day that I remember the most, as the brightest and happiest day in my life

As for me, last year, during the summer holidays I went to Oregon. This is a wonderful place surrounded on all sides by beautiful landscapes – Dream state. This state has a lot of attractions. For example, I was in the Forest Park - one of the largest in the country. There was a wide variety of birds - various species of woodpeckers, owls and swans, bats, blackbirds and others. There grew maple, poplar, fern, alder, thistle, ivy, blackberry and a huge variety of conifers. After the park we visited Multnomah falls - the second highest waterfall in the United States. We could admire two cascades from the bridge over the abyss. We had to go along a small path to Benson's footbridge to look at the waterfall. After all, we of course went to the Oregon Coast. We visited the Oregon coast because of the wide ocean view, interesting rock formations and sandy beaches. It is also worth mentioning the little town Coos Bay. It was clean and green town with few people. In a nutshell - American dream. We found out that people were very friendly there. There was a blue-haired girl who loved trainhop. According to her this is an interesting hobby and a way to relax. And she sounded happy, happier than she has ever been. Anyway, it was an exciting and most memorable trip!

In conclusion I want to say that, this day I remembered so vividly, as if it were only yesterday. Also, at such moments, you are glad that you have a family and they are with you.