

image not found or type unknown

Everybody may be confused to what would be the answer with the question, "Who is a hero?". From the word itself, "hero" means a person with a powerful body, a strong open mind, and someone who lives according to their values and ambitions. So, who really is a hero?

Every person in this world can be considered a hero in his own littlest or largest great way. For there are countless ways and reasons to be done and to be one. In our nation, we used to give an account to those who fought for our freedom. Yes, I also consider them as one but whom I supposed to look upon is the one who faced a lot of trouble and excruciation not only from exterior but from within as well and still, made a way to set it aside and soar upon it. A hero for me is the one who really loves his country that much, and someone who is concern with his countrymen. A man who is able to keep on fighting for our own freedom and justice with handling his beliefs and philosophy until his last breath.

The hero is also a master not only in one area and skill, but also in an amount exceeding the number for a decade. Someone who cannot see their country and their fellows suffering because of abusive actions. A true hero is one who dreams of his people and never ceases to strive for him and climb on him, even if he has his own shortcomings, weaknesses and flaws. Therefore, the meaning of "hero" means that although this person is already buried under a stone, he is still remembered, and still his greatness is still present in our everyday life, anywhere. His life has already passed, but his legacy in deeds and deeds will always be immortal, because it is such a great influence and inspiration for each of us that someday soon, despite our shortcomings, we can do better not only for ourselves, but and for others.