I finished school exactly three years ago in 2017. After graduating from school like ordinary young people, I entered the university where I am now studying. Over the years I have gained a lot of experience and skills in the field of knowledge. I was mostly strong in humanitarian. There were a lot of them that I knew well, for example, the history of Kazakhstan world history English language biology a little chemistry and the Kazakh language with its history of the language.

And in high school, starting from 10 11, he began to pay special attention to world history and the English language even went to speak english to improve at least a little English and so as not to forget. I studied these subjects as they were necessary for me to enter the university.

Thanks to a good memory and hard work, I entered the university, I made my parents happy with good news.

In those years when I was still in school until the 9th grade, I taught everything I needed or not, I still taught because I thought it would come in handy in life.

Thanks to hard work and due to the fact that I learned my lessons every day and did my homework, I received a lot of letters in school.

So I entered the university, the study began, although it was difficult at first, as I was used to the school curriculum. But over time you get used to this and began to study well to get average scores.

I got a little experience in my school years, this was the knowledge that every student receives and this is much higher than the level that is taught in school. Over these three years I have received quite good knowledge that will be useful in my profession in the future.

The good news for me was when I started to study at the university, it is that you yourself can make a training schedule that is convenient for you and more free time and you can even have time to work part-time.

That's how I graduated from school and entered the university and am studying for someone who I like this and there is good news for me at the present time.
