Each person dreams a lot. Almost all people want to change something in their lives, because usually they are not satisfied with such things as health, financial situation, work, education and so on. According to this, someone wants to become rich just to waste his money and do nothing at all, another person wants to change his job to become a surgeon to save lives, or astronaut to explore the universe. If I had the opportunity to be someone else for a day, who I could have been? I think I know the answer.

I am very keen on cinema that is why I would definitely be a famous Hollywood actor. Firstly, I need to say that my day should be carefully planned because I would be very busy. It would start from light jogging and continue by tasty and healthy breakfast (actors must stay in a good shape) in my own cozy house with an amazing view of Hollywood hills. After that I would have to go on a movie set. Our producer would give me a leading role instead of Brad Pitt. Our directors would shoot a scene where I should save our planet from aliens. Of course I would be definitely tired because filming would take away all my energy, but I would recover when eating a big steak with potato salad. It wouldn't be an ending of my perfect day. Being a celebrity I would have many agreements with sponsors of different events I must attend. So, that evening I would go to the event where new car would be presented. Large number of photographers and reporters would try to attract my attention to take photo or interview for the next edition of popular magazine. Day would come to an end in my bed where I would sleep with my dog Jack.

I hope one day these thoughts will come true and I could say that I live my perfect life.
