

image not found or type unknown

Once upon a time there were two twin brothers in the world. One of them was rich and the other lived in poverty. And then one beautiful day, one of them dies, the other begins to live for two.

Nobody knew where and how, but after 7 days the second brother also dies. The brothers were buried in different cemeteries. They were buried by various gravediggers, but under mysterious circumstances, one gravedigger gets into an accident, and the other commits suicide.

People used to say it was the curse of the cemetery.