Most people dream of having certain things in their life. It is a well-known fact that each person needs to have goals and to live trying to fulfill them. "A person who has no goal is like a ship without a rudder", says Thomas Carlyle, Scottish writer. I agree. Everyone should have a goal in life. Availability of target gives us a purpose in life. First of all, the goal we set ourselves for himself, his family and his country.

One should note here that goal can be different. Some people connect them with professional growth and career, others want to have a large family with many children in it. All these goals are worth considering. Our goals change and mature as we become older. However, we should remember if we really want something to become true, we should make every effort to achieve it.

Firstly, to succeed you need is to be in good health and a full capacity to work. After all, you can't reach goals doing nothing. You need to do step by step to what is necessary to achieve the objectives. People who live without a goal, often upset. Years later, looking back, they wonder why life has been wrong, and the achievement of what they wanted to, did not bring satisfaction.

Secondly, to find your calling. To reach success you need to find your interesting work, it helps you to be successful. However, I also agree that if work is pleasure, your soul is rejoiced, so your ability is manifested in all its glory. This is very important if you are targeting not only money, but also a positive, happy life.

In conclusion, I can say that if you have a dream, protect it. If you set a goal, achieve it. Follow your dream! These are wonderful words. Dream is a goal, which you ardently want, but you absolutely do not know how to reach it. And I hope that one day my goal will become a reality.
