One day each person has to choose what he or she wants to do to make a living. Of course, your job must be interesting for you, because it's very hard to work only for money. When you like what you do you get tired less often and do your job with enjoy.

So, my future job is design. I was choosing this one for a long time. I was trying to find usual not very difficult job. But, I realized that if I work on this jobs I would be unhappy. I don't want to work in the office or parse documents. I always painted something and even didn't go to Art school. I learned to draw by myself and I always liked it. Thereby, I decided to choose a profession related to my hobby.

What does designer actually do? They create visual concepts using computer programs to convey ideas that advertise anything. IT design includes logos and branding, advertisements, web-design and many other.

In conclusion, I want to say that the work that you chose first of all must be liked by you. Of course, you should listen to advices, but you have to make this final decision.
