Many legends are composed of different people about the magic power of amulets and talismans. These legends are beautiful and sometimes instructive. And if you really believe in the great influence of amulets and talismans, they can really help.

Interested to know what these words mean. In the explanatory dictionary we read: "the Amulet is a small object which magical means are prejudice people believe that he protects from disease, wounds and so on". "A talisman is an object which, in some views, has miraculous powers and brings it is owner happiness, luck, protects from danger."

But is not a self-suggestion it? Or is it coincidence? I think that these questions are hard to answer definitely. Each epoch had it is lovely noble stones. With them connected to different superstitions and beliefs. The astrologers claimed that every stone belongs to a particular zodiac sign, so people should wear rings with the appropriate stone.

I think most people have their good lucky charm. Lucky charms can be a fun way to make him feel lucky. A positive attitude is a great way to enhance luck and help you win more, successfully complete the work begun. Some people believe that if you do not have a good luck charm, and you will be unlucky and miserable person. And I agree with this opinion because my talisman brought me lots of luck.

I want to tell you more about her good luck charm. My talisman is a keychain in the form of a cute turtle. He has been with me for five years. The keychain is with me everywhere I go. I have passed all the exams with my good luck charm and it brought me great success. I believed in it and passed all the exams perfectly. In general, when my keychain with me I never get into trouble and I was always lucky.

But one day I thought I lost my talisman. The keychain lost my bag and while I never found it, I thought that without it I would not be luck. And it was, because my faith in it was very strong.

But to be honest, I believe that binding a talisman, amulet and talisman should be a crucifix, which a person has from childhood. Then his faith will protect it is destiny.
