Hi everyone. My name is Anna. I'm sixteen years old. I am a college student <<Synergy>>. I'm in my first year of design.

My way to it was not easy. Like all children in the childhood I was drawing. I was taken to a circle, but because of my activity did not spend long there. My mother told me about it. And no, I did not draw as a child on the wallpaper. My mother always gave me paper. Somewhere lie my childhood drawings.

I went a lot of places: dancing, speed reading, guitar, 3D. Most of my school life I spent in art school. Before moving back to my hometown, I took two years of preparatory courses.

After moving, I went to another art school. I study the fifth year and it is the last. I hope to finish art school. But most of the time I attend College. I'm thinking of becoming a graphic designer. While I'm not good at styling and I don't know much. Over time, I want to get better in a struggling profession.
