I've been interested in business for a long time. I read books on Finance, marketing, time management, management, self-development, psychology, most often published by "Myth", go to various business forums "synergy", "Transformation", "business Youth", watch blogs by Igor Rybakov, Transformer, Oscar Hartmann and others. I have a lot of business ideas that I put in the "My business ideas" file. I am also interested and concerned about environmental issues, because they threaten all of humanity.

Entrepreneurs should actively invest in scientific research through innovative approaches, increase productivity, reduce their cost, make them available, and actively introduce alternative sources into our lives.

I keep a register of various new energy sources and study their economic efficiency. I believe that business likes silence. You need to generate an idea and implement it quickly (everyone knows the "hundredth monkey" effect), so I will not talk about my projects in detail here. The main thing is that I have long chosen the field of activity where I want to work in the future, and I am gradually moving towards my goal.
