I started my carrier 6 years ago when I was 18 years old. I was not a good specialist because I was young girl. I educated in college at that moment and did not have an experience.

So, I came to the company to work import-manager. I started learn the English language as well. I worked, worked and worked very hard. Step by step I went up the career ladder. I was one of the best workers.

In one moment I understood that came time to start a family and I married. After a while I gave birth to a daughter. But due to love for my work I continued to work all time. I did it from home, I worked in the night if I had not time at day.

At the moment I became helper by my boss and I have less work. I combine my work and family. I walk with daughter 2 times in day and working when she sleep. I have achieved excellent conditions in my life. I started to get a second higher education, and I plan to go get driver's license in nearest time.

I think that if the person do not lazy he can achieve all what he want!

My goal was achieve!
