There is a wide choice of different professions and I`d like to tell you about my hesitation what to choose. In my childhood I wanted to become a famous singer or actor but when I was aware of all the difficulties of these professions I decided to refuse of my dream. Then I was going to become a vet. I imagined myself treating different animals, taking care of them, feeding and walking with them in the park, but this dream hadn`t also come true.

It goes without saying that every person must choose his profession according his natural abilities and inclinations to it. So, I have decided to connect my life with a profession of a designer.

Designer is an interesting profession, because your task is to make the human environment beautiful, comfortable, as well as to please people with your work. The designer needs to know a lot, but in addition to theoretical knowledge, you need to have a sense of taste, beauty, creative flight and reasonable will.

The profession of a designer has its advantages and disadvantages. This is one of the most prestigious and well-paid activities. The designer has an unlimited field of activity for his imagination. He can realize all his ideas and get paid for it. But the designer must have perseverance and hard work, be able to accept someone else's point of view, compromise with their beliefs, and in some cases - to insist on their own and convince the client.
