

image not found or type unknown

On My birthday my parents gave me a new beautiful mobile phone. It is very modern, stylish and has all the functions I need. The mobile phone has a large touch screen, and it has a lot of different pictures and melodies. I'm thrilled with the eight megapixel camera with built-in flash. I can also send text and multimedia messages. The phone has such functions as: Bluetooth, Wi-Fi Internet. The phone has a powerful processor, thanks to which I can play various interesting games in my free time. Games I download for free, thanks to the software "Android". There were headphones included with the phone, so I can listen to the music or radio I downloaded. My new phone can easily replace a laptop or tablet, as it is possible to install programs for printing text documents, dictionaries, reference books and translators. It all for me: a communication tool, toy and helper in the study. I am very grateful to my parents for such a gift.

Essay: a mobile phone is a luxury or a necessity.

Not a day goes by, there is no place where we could not hear the familiar tones, the source of which is a mobile phone, Mobile phone today is able to fit in a small pocket. A few years ago, the owner of a mobile phone felt interested and envious views, because at the beginning of the new century to afford a mobile phone could only well-off people, and now they have even small children.

However, even today, when everyone has two or even more mobile phones, you can also distinguish yourself from the crowd by purchasing a fashionable, very expensive phone, the cost of which is sometimes equal to the cost of the most modern personal computer. But is it worth the money a phone that, because of its price, turns from a thing of daily necessity into a real luxury?

If you look at it on the one hand, and today the mobile phone can be an indicator of the level of financial condition of its owner. Now almost everyone can at a glance determine how expensive the phone is in the hands. Expensive phones have incorporated the latest developments and have a prestigious look. Therefore, the buyer pays money not only for functionality, but also for design, quality and warranty. They are most popular among representatives of the modern world of business and youth.

But cheap phones are in great demand among practical people, who first of all need to call and receive calls from others. They do not care about color, weight or size do not matter.

If you look at the problem from the other side, it is well known that a person quickly gets used to the facilities, which include mobile phones. Moreover, the offers of phone manufacturers and mobile operators are becoming more attractive.. After buying a phone or smartphone for the first time, it is unlikely you will want to part with it. By purchasing a cheap phone, a year later you will want to change it to a more advanced.

In General, a person chooses a particular phone based on financial capabilities, personal tastes, on how wide the range of his communication. And the fact remains unchanged that the demand for phones is growing every year, at the same time, the quality of the offered goods is also growing. This indicates that a mobile phone is a necessary thing, convenient, reliable and therefore a mobile phone is more a necessity than a luxury.