Modern information technology has greatly influenced the way people live and their daily routine. Today we can shop not only in markets and stores, but also online. Anything can be purchased on them. From a car to a theater or movie ticket.

So now we will look at some pros and cons about shopping online.

Pros:

1. You don't have to leave your house to make a purchase, because there is an opportunity for your order to be delivered right to the door of your house or apartment.
2. In online stores the goods are sometimes cheaper than in conventional shops.

You save time and effort when buying, because you don't have to go shopping and you don't have to check everything out in person.

Cons:

1. Privacy of your data, because after the purchase, the data on your card goes to the base of the store, and not all online stores care about their security. And these data can be used by hackers.
2. Not all products are convenient to buy in the online store. For example clothes, because almost always before buying something needs to be measured. However, in most online stores this problem has already been solved.
3. The delivery time of goods from abroad. For example you ordered a product from China to Russia, it can go to you for a long time up to half a year and it is very uncomfortable.

Conclusion: online stores have greatly simplified our lives. Now you can spend your time on the things you need to do, not on shopping.

But online stores are not for everyone, because there are still people, and not a few of them, who like to go shopping in malls and similar places.
