In our time, modern youth is very peculiar. In my opinion, there are two main problems: human degradation, due to the Internet; disrespect and misunderstanding of older people. The first problem described above is very important for the generation of the XXI century. Because of the Internet, many are addicted. This dependence is also terrible, as well as from Smoking, etc. Many have forgotten how good it is to breathe fresh air on the street, how nice it is to communicate with a living person, not with a virtual one. Many disorders and diseases occur because of the computer. Pressure, blurred vision, problems with respiratory system. The second, no less important problem is the attitude to older people and parents. Teenagers very often do not understand the concerns of their elders, perceive everything in a bad way. Also, many of them do not help the elderly. Passing by the grandmother, few will help her to carry bags or help to reach on a slippery road. So that in the future there was a generation better than us, you need to take care of your health, that is, less to be at the monitor. And showing respect and compassion for people should be nurtured from childhood.
