Love is the wonderful thing that people can feel. Each person who loves something considers it the most beautiful and perfect stuff. From my point of view, the most beautiful thing in the world is nature, and I have the explanation to this statement.

Nature is not made by human. It is something pure, gentle and virgin. The only thought that people cannot create such a picturesque masterpiece makes me admire it so much. In addition, it encourages people to make art. Nature has been an inspiration for many poets, writers, artists and photographers. This creation inspired them to write poems and stories, paint and take amazing pictures.

Nature is the most mysterious thing in the world. A lot of people fall in love with her as with perfect woman once and for all. It is very unpredictable. Nobody knows what present nature will give us tomorrow. It can be sunny or rainy day, drought or flood, birdsong or silence.

Nature is our best friend and it actually takes care of humankind. It gives us the possibility to live on Earth. It provides us water to drink, food to eat, air to breathe and land to stay. It also has an ability to cure any disease and improve our health. It helps us and makes our lives easy. For these qualities we can call her a mother.

Nature inspires us to travel all around the world. Mountains, rivers, seas, oceans, volcanoes are the miracles any person wants to see.

In conclusion, I can say that each feature of nature has its own power and uniqueness provided by God. Therefore, I wanted to underline that nature is the most precious gift given us to live in beauty, peace and harmony. So we must do our best to save and protect it.
