My dream is to become a professional photographer. I feel full of energy and new ideas keep coming to my mind and I hurry up to fulfill them. Of course, if you want to become a professional the passion is not enough, you should study for a long time. But I'm ready for it!

I love taking pictures of my family, friends, animals and nature. My camera is always with me. I hope I will have a professional camera one day. Now I can't think of any other career that would be as interesting and fascinating. I think that photography is a real art. I want to express my feelings and thoughts through the photos and to show people the beauty or the miseries that exist everywhere. I could also earn good money for the living. Another thing I like about this profession is it helps you to fulfill your creativity and at the same time you bring happiness to other people.

It would be so great to be a photographer who could travel around the world and take dramatic and beautiful pictures. It would be really cool to take photos for famous magazines, like National Geographic or Vogue! And it's just a hobby but I'm very serious about it!
