I think if you visit Paris, you must visit the main landmark of city The Louvre. It is one of largest museums in the world. There is very wonderful place with amazing view.

The museum is situated in the Louvre Palace, which was once a fortress. This magnificent building exists from 1190. It houses nearly 35 000 objects and covers the area of 60 600 square meters for exposition. Each year more than 8 million people visit the Louvre. The collection of the Louvre is divided into eight departments: Egyptian Antiquities, Greek, Roman and Etruscan Antiquities, New Eastern Antiquities, Islamic Art, Paintings, Sculpture, Decorative Arts, Prints and Drawings. I know that most tourists visit this place to see the original painting of the famous artist Leonardo da Vinci " Mona Lisa". Nobody knows exactly, who is the woman on the painting. That's why there are always debates around this piece and that's why many people want to see it. Also The Louvre houses located works by other famous artists. The symbol of the Louvre is the Inverted Pyramid which appeared in late 20th century.

Nowadays, I think that The Louvre is one of the most popular and visited places in the world. If I ever find myself in Paris, I will definitely try to visit this place. Even if it's not inside, look at it from the outside and take beautiful photos against the backdrop of the Louvre.
