Time. What is it? In my opinion, this is something that cannot be measured. Time can heal and put everything in its place. We become older and wiser after a certain period of time. Time is our life, the seconds and minutes that some people unfortunately waste. For example, they use drugs or drink alcoholic beverages, do not want to study and work, and are not interested in anything in life.

But how should we use time? I believe that you should always use your time correctly, even if it is free, during this time you can do something useful - read books, go out with friends, and so on. I really appreciate my time. And I really want to have time to do a lot of useful things. So I plan my time. 133

I calculate all my cases by time. For example, my morning starts at 7: 00 am hours of charging. Then I need an hour of time to make my bed, wash, dress, put on makeup, have breakfast, and run to work. The work takes me 6-7 hours. Then I go home and have lunch. Then I get ready for work the next day, this is the preparation of lessons and presentations. Then I spend an hour and a half tutoring. I am studying English with a girl. After that, I have dinner and have free time, which I spend with my friends and a young man. If my friends are busy, I read books or watch various movies. I believe that everyone should spend their free time with maximum benefit, because this is their life and their development depends only on them. It is not necessary to engage in empty classes, which, apart from degradation, do not bring anything else. This is how my day is scheduled. And around 11 o'clock I go to bed.
