

image not found or type unknown

When any person on earth hears the name William Shakespeare, it is immediately associated with world-famous works; hamlet, Romeo and Juliet. William Shakespeare gave the whole world a great many beautiful works and winged or established phrases, for example- " to be or not to be."

As for me, today I want to discuss the main character of the work "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark. ". Hamlet was a kind and sympathetic person. But as usual - a good, caring get from the fate of much more than selfish and deceitful people. This observation is purely from personal experience. So it turned out the main character - hamlet , kill his father. And his mother is marrying his father's killer. In terms of humanity, revenge is not a good thing. But hamlet did just that. He decided to take revenge, but even this act does not make him a monster. I would do a lot of things like hamlet, but I would never do one thing, I would never fight at the grave of Aphelion. No matter how bad did not conduct itself Laertes, but fighting is not the most humane thing, especially at the funeral of another person.

Let in the work there was no so-called "happy end". However , in this work there is a hero who did not want to leave without attention. This is a friend of hamlet-Horatio, who was ready to leave the mortal world with his friend, who dissuaded him from this act. And at this moment hamlet uttered a phrase that I very well remembered - "Breathe in the harsh world, to tell my story." This phrase represents a lot of events taking place in our world. Many people sacrifice their lives so that others can continue their story or continue their life's work.

In General, I really liked this work. I would recommend it for the reading of the youth of our century, for the purpose of General education and expanding horizons.