I want to begin my essay by saying that the most important problem of young people in society today is Internet addiction. I will continue my essay by starting in Kratz to describe this problem.

In my opinion, modern life is difficult to imagine without the World Wide Web. The Internet can be useful to everyone, including students.

First, students can use the Internet for educational purposes. I believe that this is the strongest reason why they should access the Internet. Thousands of sites provide a wealth of useful information to anyone who is interested in math, chemistry, foreign languages, etc. Many school teachers create special resources for their students. Secondly, the Internet offers a wide range of leisure opportunities. You can contact your friends and send them emails, postcards, photos. You can make new friends from all over the world. The Internet offers an excellent solution to the problem of loneliness. Despite the advantages, the Internet carries serious risks. I think dating sites present a real risk for teens. On the one hand, dating sites give you the opportunity to find a friend with whom you have a lot in common. On the other hand, your new friend may not be the person with whom you would like to communicate. Moreover, it is quite possible that your new friend is a criminal. Such contacts can be very dangerous for you. In my opinion, the quality of information should be one of the main priorities. Laws must be passed to prevent the spread of harmful information. Much needs to be done to enforce the laws. Internet providers should care about the quality of the information transmitted through their channels. To summarize, modern people really need the Internet. But decisive measures must be taken to protect them from inaccurate information. If such measures are taken, the Internet will be safe. And I think that people should not be so strongly tied to the Internet, because because of this, a person becomes more lazy, because everything that a person needs is at his fingertips
