What is success? As it comes to us and what we need to do to become successful? These questions are often concern those who want to succeed in any field, but not everyone knows how to do it.

Winston Churchill said Success is going from failure to failure with no loss of enthusiasm. I completely agree with this statement. No one comes to success just because they dreamed about it. Mark Zuckerberg, Bill Gates, Steve Jobs, Pavel Durov - they all passed the heavy way of becoming one of the most famous people in the world.

It is important to understand what success means for each are completely different things. Someone caught the biggest fish in the lake, and it is equivalent to the fact that some businessman had made a deal, so you can never blame other people if you think their goals are unworthy and miserable, because the human understanding is part of success. If someone is trying to sell an idea to life, he must try, no matter how many defeats and setbacks he suffered. And when the goal is reached, and a dream fulfilled, you cannot stop, you need to set yourself a new task. Success is not static, it is moving forward, and his bail is development, you can never think narrowly, you need to keep an open mind. But there is a flip side to the coin. Goal achievement is often accompanied by stress, nervousness, lack of confidence in their actions and decisions, which ultimately can lead to the destruction of everything for which you strive.

On the basis of reasoning about what it means to be successful, you can conclude that it means not only to be smart and hardworking, but also have great willpower, which will make the desired valid.
