Hello. Long time I wanted to write an article for my ex- school website, but I put it off all the time. Now I have enough experience and I want to share it with you. I graduated 11 classes, passed the exam well and started go the University with a speciality Advertising and Public Relations.

I studied for a year, my first practice was at television. It was incredibly interesting. I even went to shoot and wrote articles for the news. In parallel, I found work in a restaurant and began to make good money. It was difficult to combine, but I managed. The next year, my specialty was closed, and all students were offered to move to other faculties. I was not ready for this. I made plans for my future work, dreamed of a career. Almost all of my classmates transferred to other faculties, someone went to other universities.

I took the documents. I decided to re-pass school exams and start another university. I worked all year and prepared for exams. After a year, I successfully passed everything. I started a distance education. And I go to my first trip. It was Egypt. I lived there for 3 months. I lived in a European area, so my English practice was with native speakers and with Europeans. After Egypt, I flew to Turkey and met my future husband there. After Turkey, we flew to South Korea for 2 months. Then I returned to Turkey and we got married. A year later, our son was born. And we are happy.

I wish everyone good luck in their studies and in life!
