Many people, regardless of age, social status, beliefs and worldview, want to leave some written evidence about their life and family members. Such materials can then even become historical documents, because they are true and written by a living witness of time, which in the future will become only a vague shadow of past eras. Only our own story about ourselves allows us to feel like a whole being, with very specific values and goals.

I was born in Baku, July 22, 1995. My parents were also born in Baku. I am now 25 years old. I have a sister who is 2 years younger than me and a brother who is 5 years younger than me. My grandparents live in Baku, and I have many cousins. My mother's family had 4 brothers and my mother and her sister, one brother died in the military service. My father's family had 3 brothers, including my father and two sisters. When I was very young, my parents and I moved to Novokuznetsk, Russia. I spent my entire childhood in Novokuznetsk, and went home for summer vacations. Since childhood, I was a capricious, stubborn and noisy child. Here I finished 9 classes at school, and then went back to Baku, living there for a year. After returning from a long vacation, I decided to enroll in a professional College, majoring in social work. I did very well in College, and in my first year I scored 4.7 out of 5. In College, I met my best friend Anastasia. We became best friends right away on my 18th birthday. We have been friends for more than 8 years and we want to continue to be friends for a very long time. After I graduated from College, I decided to take a break from my studies and so I decided to take a break for a year. In the same year, I started working in my specialty – a specialist in social work. I also went to University to study Linguistics. After working as a social worker for a year, I quit and found another job in the same specialty. After I quit this job, I decided to look for a more lucrative job.

I tried my hand at various fields : I worked as an administrator in a beauty salon; I was an assistant cook in a restaurant; I was a consultant in stores. I'm not working at the moment, but I'm studying English thoroughly. In the future, I plan to work in the field of foreign language education.
