Hello, Melissa. Your friend Rustam writes to you. How are you doing? How are your parents? How is your health? What's the weather like? It's been so long since we've seen each other. It's a little hard for me to admit that I haven't written to you or told you anything for a long time. There was a misunderstanding in our communication with you. It seemed to me that our interests diverged. For a long time, I was tormented by doubts to write to you, but I decided only now, after almost a whole year. Apparently, for this purpose it was necessary to Mature. Well, all right. I'll write a little about myself.

I'm doing great. The work takes a lot of time. But I'm not discouraged. I relieve stress in the gym. I started working hard in martial arts and I am doing good results in this area. I really hope that I will be able to reach great heights in my sports career. Recently I started working with an instructor individually. Which took me a couple more steps forward. A few days ago, I took a refresher course. Now I'm a top-level specialist. I hold a managerial position. So to speak, I am moving up and forward on the career ladder. What has changed in my personal life...? It's hard to say right away, but I'll try. Malika and I broke up. We realized that nothing connects us. After that I flew to Thailand, I wanted to be alone with myself. I tried to understand what I want from life! Leaving the past behind me, a new door opened for me! The door to the future. From the moment I arrived, it was as if I had changed inside. I began to look at things with completely different eyes. I began to appreciate what I had previously devalued. My life began to gain momentum. I began to live to the fullest. And sometimes I think I've surpassed myself. And this is not the limit. I feel that I have many more discoveries to make.

I hope that in the near future we will definitely see each other and will continue to sit by the fire, play guitar and tell stories. All right, my dear, give my love to your parents. I miss you very much and look forward to seeing you again. See you soon! Your Rustam!!!
