Do you think it is better to live in a big city or a small town? Why? It is a really difficult question. In this essay, I will try to answer this question.

In today's world, most people live in large cities. Small towns are growing every year, the rural population is declining. It is not surprising, because in a big city there is usually everything for a comfortable life. It is easy to buy everything from food to laptops and cars. A well-developed transport system allows you to deliver goods even from other continents. And most importantly, different industries and institutions are concentrated in cities, so everyone can get a profession and get a job. The city has a lot of entertainment and interesting places. There are parks, squares, cultural monuments, embankments where you can relax.

On the one hand, living in a big city is comfortable and interesting. The big city is always filled with the sounds of voices, the noise, and beeps of cars, the howling of sirens, the music from the cafe. Life is in full swing here even at night.

On the other hand, there are inconveniences. There is always a lot of stress, far from nature, the air is polluted by automobile exhausts and emissions of factories.

Life in a small city is much simpler. There are no long traffic jams and queues. The air is much cleaner and fresher, but in a small city, there are no big opportunities. The salary level is also much lower.

From my point of view, there are a lot of advantages and disadvantages of living in a big city and a small town. But everyone determines where it is more convenient for him to live.

In conclusion, for me living in a big city is not bad you just need to get out of town as often as possible, be in nature to relax from the busy rhythm of life.
