

image not found or type unknown

It will happen on the twenty-sixth of April at two thousand nine hundred and eighty-six. A dangerous and little-studied virus will leak in the large city of Merefafa. The virus will enter the human body causing various mutations. People with strong immunity will be able to survive and adapt, but they will no longer look like ordinary people. People with weak immunity will die. A year later, only a third of the population will remain on the planet. Survivors will be divided into three classes: «Free», «Mutants» and «Devourers».

The class «Mutants» will include people whose body will cope with the virus, but the virus will subdue their consciousness. They will be just weak-willed monsters who do not know feelings, love and pity. They will have only one desire and that is the lust for blood. The class «Devourers» will include people who do not want to live according to the old laws. These people will have emotions, but they will not have morality. The only thing they will want is money and power. With great power and capabilities, they will want to subjugate the world. They will conquer more and more new territories, subjugating others. Only the «Free» will be able to stop them. People from this class will fight for justice, freedom and honor. The brain of these people will be least exposed to the virus, they will receive more power and will use it for good.

There will be massive battles between the three classes. Rivers of blood will overflow their banks. It will be impossible to stop this.

What will happen next?

Who will win the battle?

Will people be able to find a compromise and come to peace?

What will the next generations of people look like?

Unknown.

It will be a completely new world that we cannot even imagine...

(Coming soon in all bookstores in the world.) :)