

image not found or type unknown

This problem is very common in Russia. Surely many have come across this. More often in families to keep on mothers and grandmothers. So it was with me. There are several reasons for this, which I would like to tell you about.

First, it is the fading of feelings. People get divorced because they simply stop loving each other. From this reason comes another - treason.

Due to the fact that the spouses stop loving each other, they start a relationship on the side.

Because of this, destinies and families break down, children suffer, because they are most susceptible to this problem. Children are connected with their parents, and when one of them leaves, the child is very hurt.