The work - an important part of our lives. Without it is very difficult to imagine the modern world. Each person needs to work to earn money for himself on his life. Work should like and not become a routine for a person. The work can even be a hobby. For example, a person who draws beautiful pictures will be receive a good profit for their sale. Also it may be a profession acquired in an educational institution in which you develop throughout your life. For example, every year a teacher must improve their professional skills by developing new methods and learning new schoolteaching tools in accordance with state educational standards.

The main principle that I adhere to in life is to develop intellectually and improve professional skills in my work. I am a man with an active lifestyle, who like to do their job and see the result of their labor. I want to work in a team of professionals and enthusiastic people in their profession to achieve the highest objective. In my opinion, my salary should correspond to my qualifications and level of education.

So now I am study in college and my objective in the future - to go to university to get a good higher education. For myself, I chose a specialty related to information technology, because it is interesting to me. With each passing year information technology become more and more indispensable in our lives. Now constantly appears something new, the old is replaced by more innovative. Progress does not stand still. That is why I want to work in this domain and maybe even bring something new in it.

Work should be a continuation of my professional way. It is necessary need to study something all your life, discover for myself something new and not stand still. Otherwise, your skills and knowledge will become obsolete and you will not be able to comply with the trends of the new time in your professional sphere of activity. So I want to a lot of work hard to achieve their objectives and build a successful career.
